The solo exhibition of Sachiyo Aoyama will start at Fuma Contemporary Tokyo | Bunkyo Art from February 19th Tuesday ~ March 2nd Saturday, with a reception on February 23rd Saturday.

Sachiyo Aoyama is a Japanese artist who has been highly praised with her brilliant coloring paintings with mystic characters composed with animals, bones, and symbolic figures that reflect life and death of present age.

Sachiyo Aoyama's theme of the latest paintings is phenomena perceived by 5 senses: "seasons", "wind", "food", "dream", "sound", "scent"... etc. She has created detailed and out spreading exquisite paintings which struggles to capture unknown territory.

Recently she started tackling with these themes: designs transcending individual ethnicity, the image of animistic belief: "witches", "chimera", "siren", "floating spirit", "scent of midnight sun", "scent of polar night". She has been building a world of silent rhythm and mysterious charm of shimmering flow of time.

"Scent of Polar Night" is Sachiyo Aoyama's 3rd solo exhibition in 3 years. This will surely be a fascinating solo exhibition showing the rich selections of her latest paintings.
